10. Starting from 2019-20, a web-based system has been in use to generate the distance scores for travelling time from students' homes (based on the home address records in the Portal) to the Main Campus for individual applicants. You are highly recommended to double check the correctness of your home address records in the Portal to ensure that the system can find the correct distance scores for you. Points Awarded for Home Environment for 2025-26 are provided in document 81/425 (Appendix C) while details on the admission criteria, viz. the calculation of the merit score (M), for the respective residential halls can be found in document 62/424 (Appendix D).

THE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG

Committee on Halls

Summary of Key Arrangements for Hall Admission

The Senate approved guidelines for the selection of candidates for admission to halls of residence in May 1975. These guidelines were modified in March 1982, July 1989, March 1992 and again in December 1999. Further changes have been made according to the recommendation of the Hall Review in 2017 and Hall Reform in 2022. The following is a summary of the key points of the system.

I. Readmission Panel

The Senior Management Team believes that the wardens, as leaders appointed by the University, should play a larger role in constituting the hall community. It further believes that colleagues in the Housing Team of the Centre of Development and Resources for Students (CEDARS) should offer expert advice and support to the wardens in undertaking that role, and at the same time generate greater consistency across the entire hall community. In light of the above, the readmission panel has been reconstituted as follows: a warden and a tutor (to represent hall management), two SA members (to represent hall residents) and two CEDARS staff (to represent the University).

(C.O.H. 11.2.2022 and C.S.A. 18.2.2022)

II. Residential Hall Admission Advisory Group (RHAAG)

The Warden may take advice from a Residential Hall Admission Advisory Group (RHAAG) comprising both staff and students. The final decision is made by the Warden alone. The RHAAG shall comprise two tutorial staff appointed by the Warden and two student members of the Hall appointed by the Hall Students' Association. The Warden may attend but not vote in the meetings.

III. Hall Admission: Appeal and Monitoring System

In December 1999, in response to the call for more transparency in hall admission and the need to tackle problems arising from hall orientation, a Working Group on Hall Orientation and Admissions was set up by the Committee on Student Affairs to (a) review the administrative aspects of hall orientation programmes and (b) review and formulate an appeal and monitoring system relating to hall orientation and admissions. (C.S.A. 17.12.1999)

“c) Appeal System

Handling of appeal cases should be as follows:

- i) for reviewing appeal cases, Wardens should, as far as possible, be personally involved, in addition to receiving feedback from resident tutors, floor Chairman and hall associations etc.;
- ii) Wardens should interview residents making appeals together with the Appeal Panel, and write to those residents whose appeals were unsuccessful with specific reason(s) for rejecting their appeals in a formal letter; and that the Wardens should aim to interview students with the Appeal Panel and send out the letters normally within one calendar week;
- iii) students' appeal letters and wardens' letters should be copied to the Dean of Student Affairs;
- iv) to ensure objectivity and fairness, the Appeal Panel should be composed of members different from those in the residential hall Admissions Advisory Committee;
- v) the Appeal Panel should comprise three members: Warden from another residential hall (external member), at least one senior hall tutor / hall tutor (internal member) and at least one student representative (internal member);
- vi) students should be told clearly how the panel is formed;
- vii) members of the panel should be made known to students before re-admissions i.e. in April; and
- viii) Wardens make and are ultimately responsible for all admission and panel decisions as the Admissions Advisory Committee and Appeal Panel are only to assist them in arriving at their decisions.

(C.S.A. 24.3.2000, 3.4.2000, 30.4.2021 and C.O.H. 25.11.2021)

IV. Duration of Residence

Admission on each occasion is for one year only. Residents may be re-admitted in subsequent years on the basis of the criteria for re-admission and such is not automatic. From the academic year of 2024-25, residents whose residential years are equal to or exceed the normative study period minus one year (P-1) will be given the lowest priority when they apply for residency. Exceptions for special circumstances will be considered on a case-by-case basis, with the recommendations from the Warden and endorsement from the Chairman and Vice-chairman of the Committee on Halls. (C.O.H. 18.4.2024)

Because of disciplinary offence, the Warden may “terminate, upon giving one week’s notice, a membership of the Hall, in which case the student may request the Committee of the Hall Association to request the Warden to communicate to them all the circumstances relating to the termination of hall membership.” (H9 of Regulations Governing Halls).

V. Grievances Procedures

Procedures for dealing with student grievances arising from hall admissions are also established accordingly:

- a) While appeals for Hall Admission results should be addressed in the first instance to the Wardens of the respective halls, students who have grievances arising from Hall Admissions may seek assistance from the Dean of Student Affairs.
- b) If the grievances cannot be resolved at the Warden's level and the Dean's level, the student may submit his/her grievances in writing to the Vice-Chancellor.

(W.G. 17.4.2000)

Note: The document archives cited in this summary should be read in conjunction with the introduction of a new hall admission scheme with effect from 2009-2010.

Committee on Halls

New Hall Admission Scheme

1. The Committee on Halls set up a Task Force on Hall Admission Quotas to undertake a widespread consultation with relevant stakeholders with the brief to “develop a new admission scheme”. The Task Force undertook its work from March 2007 to May 2008 with its Final Report endorsed by the Committee on Halls (CoH) on June 25, 2008 and the Committee on Student Affairs (CSA) on September 26, 2008.
2. During its investigation and consultation across the University and in formulating its recommendations for a new system to distribute admission quotas for residential halls, the Task Force has taken into consideration a number of issues of concerns including the balance between hall education and the absolute need of the students, the need for a uniform admission policy for all student halls while maintaining a certain degree of flexibility, the accommodation of non-local students in halls, the need to increase the transparency of the procedure and criteria of hall admission, re-admission and appeal system, etc.
3. The Final Report of the Task Force on Hall Admission Quotas was discussed by the Senate at its meeting on November 4, 2008. The Senate agreed to adopt a new hall admission scheme with effect from the academic year 2009-2010, with the principles of allocation and operational guidelines detailed in the Final Report.
4. The principles of allocation govern the basic rationale of the system which is to be realized through the “operational guidelines”. The operational guidelines are more flexible and may be changed by the Committee on Student Affairs upon recommendation from the Committee on Halls.
5. Principles of allocation
 - (1) The relative importance of need (N) and merit (M) factors in the consideration of hall admission should be reflected by the relative weightings (n and m respectively) assigned to these two types of factors rather than quotas.
 - (2) Define absolute need for local undergraduate students. Local undergraduate students with absolute need and nonlocal undergraduate students are guaranteed one year of hall residence.
 - (3) The same weightings (m and n in Principle 1) will be applied to all undergraduate students after one year of hall experience except those specified in Principle 5 below.
 - (4) Non-freshman undergraduate students who do not have any hall experience should have a reasonable chance of successfully applying for a hall place.

- (5) Halls set aside a small percentage of places for undergraduate students without taking into consideration of the need factors and another small percentage of places for undergraduate students with proven special physical or psychological needs.
- (6) The overall percentage of non-local undergraduate students in all residential halls taken together should be capped at a figure to be reviewed when new halls are built or when there is a major change in the University's policy of admitting non-local students. Currently, the overall percentage of non-local students in all residential halls is about 30%.
- (7) There should be a small percentage of postgraduate students in undergraduate halls.
- (8) There should be a high degree of transparency and accountability in the hall admission (including re-admission) system (including both the criteria and procedures).

6. Operational guidelines

Principle (1)

The relative importance of need (N) and merit (M) factors in the consideration of hall admission should be reflected by the relative weightings (n, m) assigned to these two types of factors rather than quotas.

- a) Each hall applicant is assigned an admission score according to the following formula:

$$\text{Admission Score} = n * N + m * M$$
(N: need score 0 -100, M: merit score 0 – 100;
m,n: weightings, 0 – 1))
- b) The need score includes travel time, usable area per person at home and type of housing. It will be computed using a scheme similar to the existing formula for the Joint-Hall Admission Scheme. However, there is new category of “absolute need” students (Please see point (d) below).
- c) Each individual hall may decide how the merit score is computed but the calculation must be widely publicized. For students with no prior hall experience (including new HKU entrants), the merit score takes into consideration of academic and non-academic achievements, expected contribution to hall life, match with the style of the hall, and performance interview. For students with prior hall experience, additional criteria will be considered: observation of hall rules, responsible and respectful behavior, and other factors the hall may deem fit.
- d) The Committee on Halls further agreed at its meeting held on April 3, 2009 that students who were admitted into the halls on or after February 1 of the academic year concerned would be considered as “students with no prior hall experience”.

Principle (2)

Define absolute need for local undergraduate students. Local undergraduate students with absolute need and nonlocal undergraduate students are guaranteed one year of hall residence.

- e) Local students who need to travel more than 3 hours per day are considered to have “absolute need”. Their need score is 100.

Principle (3)

The same weightings (m and n in Principle 1) will be applied to all undergraduate students after one year of hall experience except those specified in Principle 5 below.

- f) As senior students have more knowledge about Hong Kong which puts them in a better position in finding their own accommodation in the community, the relative weighting of need, n in the equation, should diminish as the student progresses. The following tables shows the relative weightings over the study period of various types of students:

	Year of Hall Experience
	0		1+
	$m^{1,2}$	n^1	m^1	n^1
Nonlocal students	0	1	0.5	0.5
Local students with absolute need	0	1	0.5	0.5
Other local students	0.5	0.5	0.5	0.5

¹ m = weighting of merit; n = weighting of need.

² Principle 5 effectively specifies two small percentages for assigning $m = 1$ & $n = 0$, and $m = 0$ & $n = 1$ to small percentages of students.

Principles (4) and (6)

Non-freshman undergraduate students who do not have any hall experience should have a fair chance of successfully applying for a hall place.

The overall percentage of non-local undergraduate students in all residential halls taken together should be capped at a figure to be reviewed when new halls are built or when there is a major change in the University's policy of admitting non-local students. Currently, the overall percentage of non-local students in all residential halls is about 30%.

- g) Each hall may decide to assign 1/3 to 2/3 of its intake of students with 0 year of hall experience at the beginning of each academic year to nonlocal students (with ‘ n ’ equal to 1) depending on its circumstances, with the constraint that the overall percentage of nonlocal students in halls at 30%-33%, and the overall percentage of students with ‘ n ’ equal to 1 in the intake of each year across all halls at 70%. If the number of local students with ‘ n ’ equal to 1 exceeds the number of places for them, then admission of such students would be decided by lottery. Students who do not get a hall place in the lottery will be considered in the $m = 0.5$, $n = 0.5$ category with the need score (N) kept at 100.

Principle 5

Halls set aside a small percentage of places for undergraduate students without taking into consideration of the need factors and another small percentage of places for undergraduate students with proven special physical or psychological needs.

- h) Halls set aside 3% of places for undergraduate students without taking into consideration of the need factors and 3% of places for undergraduate students with proven special physical or psychological needs.

Principle 7

There should be a small percentage of postgraduate students in undergraduate halls.

- i) The minimum quota for postgraduate students in undergraduate halls should be kept at 2%.
- j) Selection of postgraduate students in undergraduate halls should be performed by halls.

Principle 8

There should be a high degree of transparency and accountability in the hall admission (including re-admission) system (including both the criteria and procedures).

- k) The following accountability measures should be implemented in the hall admission system:
 - i. All admission/re-admission interviews must be conducted in the presence of a tutor/senior tutor/warden.
 - ii. There should be one to three current residents (e.g., members of the executive committee of the hall association) in each admission or re-admission interview.
 - iii. All appeals must be considered by the warden.
 - iv. A written letter should be issued by the warden to every unsuccessful appeal applicant to state the reasons of rejection, copied to the Committee on Halls or the Dean of Student Affairs.
 - v. Halls should submit their admission and re-admission criteria and procedures, including those of the floors, to the Committee on Halls for endorsement; and widely publicize them.
 - vi. Upon request by an applicant, halls must provide him/her with his/her personal information used in the admission/re-admission.
 - vii. Students should provide proof of residential status/travelling time, achievement etc. at the interview.

THE UNIVERSITY OF HONG KONG

Committee on Halls

Hall Admission Criteria in arriving at the Merit Score (M)

1. Halls are part of the education system of the University rather than just a provision of accommodation. They are a very effective vehicle to integrate students' social and intellectual lives, and therefore represent a golden opportunity for the full development of students.
2. Hall members are expected to learn to be independent and interact closely with students of various backgrounds in their halls. They are also expected to take full advantage of such a precious opportunity to actively participate in various hall activities so as to develop their personal abilities (e.g. leadership skills), personality, communication and social skills, as well as intellectual ability.
3. Hall members are expected to identify strongly with and shoulder civic responsibilities in their hall. Through developing such a sense of belonging and commitment to the hall, members will also develop a similar sense of commitment to the society.
4. For students with no prior hall experience (including new HKU entrants), the merit score takes into consideration of academic and non-academic achievements, expected contribution to hall life, match with the style of the hall, and performance interview. For students with prior hall experience, additional criteria will be considered: observation of hall rules, responsible and respectful behavior, and other factors the hall may deem fit.

Round I: Re-admission Exercise in April

5. For the re-admission exercise in April, the merit score will be calculated on the basis of 50% participation in hall activities (with campus and community participation bonus) and 50% academic performance (with Semester GPA bonus).
6. Each individual hall may decide how the hall participation component of the merit score is computed but the calculation must be widely publicized. The respective criteria of individual halls as to how the hall participation component of the merit score will be computed can be found in the Annex to this document. Each individual hall should also elaborate in the Annex the criteria of gaining bonus score through campus and community participation.

7. On the academic performance component of the merit score, it will be calculated based on applicants' Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA). To be considered for re-admission, applicants must obtain a CGPA of 2.0 or above and the score will be computed based on the table below:

CGPA	Score	CGPA	Score
2.00 – 2.23	1	3.16 – 3.38	6
2.24 – 2.46	2	3.39 – 3.61	7
2.47 – 2.69	3	3.62 – 3.84	8
2.70 – 2.92	4	3.85 – 4.07	9
2.93 – 3.15	5	4.08 – 4.30	10

8. In order to recognize students' effort in achieving improvement in academic performance, the admission panel may adjust the score upward by one or two categories for applicants with a Semester GPA higher than his/her CGPA.
9. For applicants enrolled in programmes without a GPA system, the academic performance component of the merit score will be awarded on a scale of 1 to 10 based on the academic ranking provided by respective programme.

Round II: Admission Exercise

10. Each individual hall may decide how the admission score is computed but the calculation must be widely publicized. The respective criteria of individual halls as to how the admission score will be computed can be found in the Annex to this document.

B. Residential Hall administering its own admission:

St. John's College

St. John's College will not take the "Need Score" (the so-called "N Score") as the main factor for consideration.

St. John's College is administering its own admission and has its own criteria; although St. John's College is accepting applications for admission through the on-line hall application system.

As regards our admission criteria, St. John's College is looking for students who have a good potential, and a passion, to excel in academic studies, sports, cultural activities, leadership development, and/or community service. For years, St. John's Alumni had become prominent leaders of our community. Assessment for admission to is mainly by interview. The Master of the College has the final say in admission. In making his decisions, the Master may consult the Dean of the College and student representatives.

In recent years, St. John's College is very concern with the academic performances of our students. Starting 2008, we introduced academic tutors into the College, who would see students personally and regularly to help with their studies.

St. John's College started as the first hall of residence in HKU in 1912. The College aims to provide the best all-round education to HKU students. We strive providing the best facilities. We have a spacious campus, an exclusive dining hall, and we provide only single rooms. We are constantly seeking methods to enable students to best develop themselves in a congenial environment. And we have a policy to consider seriously the re-admission of students recurrently after their first year of residence in the College.

Last but not the least, most St. John's alumni may tell you this: they had met the best friends of their lives in St. John's.
